Bidu Sayao, Soprano, To Give Concert

Bidu Sayao, leading Metropolitan opera soprano, will give a concert at Winthrop college Tuesday at 8 p.m. This will be the last of the artist series for the '49-'50 season.

Born in Rio de Janeiro, Madame Sayao studied under Jean de Reszke in Paris. She made her debut in this country at Carnegie hall as soloist with the New York philharmonic orchestra under Toscanini. Among her first performances were a recital at Town hall in New York and the opera "Maoon" at the Metropolitan Opera house.

The Brazilian singer has performed with the Opera Comique in Paris and has given recitals in Europe and America.

Included in her program at Winthrop are "Two Italian Songs" of the 18th century, arranged by Victor Trucchi, selections by Paulsen, Hahn, and Morel. Also she will sing two numbers composed by Debussy, "De Fleurs" and "Air de Lia," from "L'Enfant Prodigue."

On the lighter side, Sayao will sing "Men" by Irving Mopper, "The Children's Letter to the United Nations, Public School No. 80" and two other numbers by Collier Dougherty.

Bidu Sayao will conclude her program at Winthrop by singing two folk songs from Brazil, arranged by Braga and a group of three South American songs, "Zamorana," "Coplas Malagueñas," and "Joropo," arranged by Sandoval.

Casadesus, With True French Characteristics, Tells Of Career, Family

By INEZ PARK

A man with true French characteristics—light hair, blue eyes, and a charming French accent, visited Winthrop campus last Monday night to give a concert. This man is the noted French pianist, Robert Casadesus.

Born in Paris, Mr. Casadesus comes from a family of professional musicians, who have made important contributions to the cultural life of France. When asked about the beginning of his own career, he smilingly answered, "I began studying music at the age of four, but it's a strange thing—I don't remember it."

He graduated from the Paris Conservatoire, and his career soon covered Europe, North Africa, and South America. In 1935, he made his American debut with the New York Philharmonic symphony orchestra. At that performance Toscanini asked him to play with his orchestra with which he has been playing ever since.

Family Man

Robert Casadesus is not only a pianist and composer, but also the father of two sons, Jean and Guy, and a daughter, Therese. He enjoys giving joint recitals with his wife, Gaby, who is also a gifted pianist. Jean, his elder son is already an accomplished pianist and has given numerous concerts of his own. "Next year my son, my wife and I will give a concert together for the first time. I wish all of you could come," said the brilliant musician.

As a hobby Mr. Casadesus collects various sizes and shapes of pipes. He has a large collection which he has acquired from all parts of the world.

The Casadesus family has two homes. During the winter he lives in Princeton, N. J., but he spends the summer months abroad. He spoke of leaving for France in April to begin a concert tour throughout Europe.

In commenting about his choice of music, Mr. Casadesus said, "All good music is beautiful, and I like beautiful music."

7 Music Students Attend Recital

Seven music students attended the student composition recital at Women's College, Greensboro, N. C., last Friday.

Those attending were: Frances Ann Cox, Merilee Alvers, Joan Murray, Fay Reed, Cornelia Harris, Lola Duncan, and Betty Lide.

'How Our Hearts Beat High With Pride'

Guest Editorial by
Bobbie Whitlock, Senior Cheerleader

Due to the lack of participation—and the habit of putting on coats, waking up, etc. during the singing of our Alma Mater, a little reminder of what our Alma Mater means might remedy the situation.

Have you ever stopped to think about what your Alma Mater means to you? At big colleges and universities it's the song they sing at half-time during a big football game, but here at Winthrop, our Alma Mater is sung at the end of assembly. The thing is, it should mean something to us to sing in honor of our college.

"Fairest Flowers of the Southland"—aren't you proud to be in that category? You must be proud of Winthrop or you wouldn't be here. "Fond the memories that cluster 'round thy Campus and thy halls." We all have so many memories to cherish about our years in navy blue.

Flowers last two or three days before they wilt—not just an hour.

When we sing our Alma Mater, let's sing it for what it stands for and really mean it—"How our hearts beat high with pride."

B. W.

This Is It

Tomorrow night will bring to a close many weeks of hard work on the part of the junior class members who are participating in the production of the 1950 Follies.

Staged annually to raise funds for Junior-Senior, the program is student written and produced. Only members of the junior class make up the cast and committees.

Highlighting the junior year and climaxed only by Junior-Senior, the hours, days, and weeks of preparation are all worth while when the big day finally arrives. Standing on the huge stage behind blinding footlights is a phase of the college career that will never be forgotten.

It is impossible to think of Junior Follies merely as a means of making money. As the years pass by, the purpose will be forgotten but never the production itself. It is not only a great source of enjoyment but the event also gives the class a feeling of unity. Working together toward a common goal is the finest work possible.

To the members of the other three classes, tomorrow means the day that we see for ourselves what all the whispering and secret meetings have been about. We'll be right there to applaud the talents of the class and share their big moment with them.

To the juniors, "this is it." We have Rat day, Sophomore week, and Senior week. The day of Junior Follies belongs to the members of the junior class. As they prepare "to strut and fret their hour upon the stage," we would like to wish them the best of luck. We know what this means to them, and we want them to know that they have our whole-hearted support.

A Weekend At Winthrop

This is a very special weekend for many senior high school girls. . . . the Miss Hi Misses from North and South Carolina for 1950. . . . for this weekend they are queens.

Some of them for the first time are receiving college life. . . . they are feted and waited upon. . . . for each one has had the honor of being picked as the outstanding girl of her class.

Do you remember your first view of Winthrop? For many it was probably a dreary day in September. . . . and that first look was a very bare room with some stranger in it. Everything seemed hostile as you watched that last familiar face disappear down the road. But it did not remain so for long. . . . for one of the outstanding points about Winthrop is its friendliness. Within the week you were an old hand at this college life.

That warm glow of friendliness is one point that visitors on Campus are most impressed by. It's a great trait and we should strive to keep it. To you Miss Hi Misses, we are awfully glad that you are here. We hope that this weekend will be one of the highlights of your senior year in high school. . . . and that you will not only have fun while here, but will remember us with fondness.

Of course all of the time spent at Winthrop is not spent playing. . . . you perhaps noticed that in your issue of The Johnsonian. However, in work and play, there is always a feeling of comradeship and fellowship. . . . there is a feeling that you are on your own. . . . that it is up to you and only you to finish the job. . . . and to do it well.

But this weekend don't think of work. . . . the emphasis is on play. . . . and nowhere can you find a group of girls who love to relax and play than a Winthrop girl. . . .

So welcome to your weekend at Winthrop. . . . and as the current song hit goes. . . . "Enjoy Yourself!"

This Week

From the President of the Student Government Association

Each spring, we at Winthrop choose the leaders to serve on Campus for the next year. Once more the spring season is at hand, and once more we are preparing to choose our leaders. The girls nominated are all capable, but they alone will be powerless. You stand behind them, and your attitude and efforts will be the determining factor in the outcome of the activities on Campus.

Your vote counts! Think about it before you make that vital decision. Weigh the qualities possessed by each candidate. After careful consideration, make up your own mind. Do not be influenced by the idle gossip, but think for yourself before casting your vote. After your decision has been made, support your candidate. If she should be victorious, you will be pleased too. If she should lose, naturally you will feel downcast. This feeling must not prevail for long, however. Support the newly elected in her policies because after all, her work will be for you and Winthrop.

This is the time to show what kind of a sport you are—I know I can count on you, because you have certainly been a loyal Student Body this year. Good luck next year. I sincerely hope that you will give the newly elected president the support you have given me, because serving you this year has truly been a wonderful experience. I'm more convinced than ever that Winthrop is the best school ever, and that her Student Body can never be surpassed.

What We Live By

The Johnsonian wants to deserve a reputation for accuracy, thoroughness, and fairness in covering the Winthrop college campus. You will do us a favor if you call our attention to any failure in measuring up to any of these fundamentals of good newspapering.

Letter to the student body . . .

Last week an announcement was made over the radio in the Dining room. It was read in this effect. . . . "In preparation for the Sophomore testing program; in preparation for the Senior graduate exams; and in preparation for life itself. . . . a lecture is to be presented in the College auditorium Thursday night by Mrs. Vera M. Dean on 'The World Outlook, Today' . . ." The attendance at the lecture, as usual, was deplorable.

Many students may have had good intentions to go. . . . but when the time came, it was just so much trouble to dress. . . . or it was so scary in the dormitory and so cold outside. . . . or many had as their excuse, a big test the following day.

Through the lecture series, outstanding speakers are brought to Winthrop every year. . . . yet this opportunity is not taken advantage of.

Would it be possible that during the week that a lecture course is offered that Tuesday assembly be deferred until the evening when the speaker is due? If the lecture should fall on a Thursday or Friday when students wish to take their weekend. . . . it can be treated the same as class cuts? As we would occupy regular assigned assembly seats, this would cut out the middle section as "bought seats." This might also cut out assigned tickets on the following day.

This is a suggestion waiting for discussion and action from both students and administration.

The March . . .

Issue of The Journal was distributed Friday. A fine example of student creative writing is presented in this publication. The addition of photographs and the printing on enameled paper make it a most attractive magazine. A journal worthy of its staff.

A word to the Juniors . . .

May your hard work and tireless efforts be well rewarded tomorrow night. Every thing Broadway is brought to our own front yard. It is a big moment. . . . for the spotlight is focused directly on YOU. . . . We are waiting with suspenseful anticipation.

will be the first voting day of the year. You have had it beat into you for the past week the qualifications of good officers. . . . that they should be dependable, of good character, ability, and with good administrative background. . . . also, that after you have chosen your new leaders to stick by them. . . . and to follow their leadership. You who have been up here for four years have heard it thrice before. . . . others twice. . . . others once. Some of you are probably tired of hearing these qualifications batted around in the various phases of the English language. Well, no matter how long you hear them. . . . listen to the words. . . . amounts to nothing. . . . a good leader.

Wet On Without - - -

"There's No Business Like Show Business!"—how true that is. Some of us remember follies in the past and we all reminisce just a little. . . . We all know how much co-operation, practice, work and fun goes into a production. . . . for those of us who don't know or don't remember, we will become aware of the fact tomorrow night when the junior class shines in their big show! It's just one of the "great" things a Winthrop girl can tuck in her scrapbook of memories, but it's always a night to remember!

When we think of show business, it always brings to mind the vaudeville lane or the great comic stage. One of the greatest is Groucho Marx. . . . we all have heard him. . . . Here's one that Earl Wilson likes to tell: When Groucho's son Arthur, the writer, was small, he was called an air rifle. Groucho wouldn't give it to him. "As long as I'm head of the family, you're not going to have a gun," Groucho said. "And if I get a gun, you're not going to be head of the family," said Arthur. Don't suppose Arthur ever got the gun, or do you? Listen to Groucho's radio program on Wednesday night!

No Lack Of Friends At Winthrop . . .

AMONG THE BEST AT WINTHROP . . .

Dear Campus Town Hall:

All year we have been thinking how wonderful our counselors and board members are, and now we want to tell them. Our counselors have been so helpful. The first few days we were at Winthrop they were always ready to give us advice.

We will never forget the first hall meeting we had. Our board member, trying to explain things, said, "Do you know the difference in your counselor and me?" One of the bright freshmen replied, "Yeah, she's 'for us and you're agin us.' But that is not true, because they have both been our 'stand-bys,' and we could not have done without them. We think they're among the best at Winthrop.

What do you think of Winthrop? What do others think of Winthrop? If a poll were taken of the students, the result would no doubt be that this is a "pretty wonderful place."

Many people visit on our Campus during the year. Some of these guests come in order to form an impression of Winthrop so as to help them to decide if this is the college of their choice.

Such was the case of some girls this past weekend who were guests of McLeister hall. All were from Hendersonville, North Carolina, and are high school seniors there. After a taste of life in a freshman dormitory, they had this to say of our Alma Mater. . . .

FEEL OF WINTHROP GOTTEN . . .

Dear Campus Town Hall:

Winthrop! As I have already found out. It is a fascinating place. When we first stepped off the bus and our hostesses for the weekend met us, I felt at home. All the girls I have met have carried out that first impression of friendliness. The freshmen seem to remember as well when they too, were seeing Winthrop for the first time.

I could write on and on about the cheerful atmosphere and all the other good things I have "discovered" during our short stay. What is more important, however, is that I think I realize something of the "feel" of Winthrop, all the things which go together to make the wonderful school that it is. I guess it can't be explained: it is just that feeling which, in spite of all the "gripes" and complaints, makes everyone who stands or visits know that Winthrop is the place.

Sincerely,

Eleanor Case

FRIENDS, BEAUTIFUL CAMPUS,

GYMNASIUM . . .

Dear Campus Town Hall:

I have always heard that one of the first things that a girl misses when she goes away to college is the familiar faces and friendly greetings of the people in her hometown.

Since I have spent a weekend at Winthrop, however, I am inclined to believe that because of the friendly feeling among the students, a girl could not possibly get homesick just because she is in a large group of strangers.

Winthrop also has a beautiful campus and very impressive buildings. The well-equipped gymnasium affords an excellent place for the recreational activities of the college students.

In all, I think Winthrop is a wonderful school, and the friendly attitude which the Winthrop girls have taken toward me as a visitor has certainly helped me to form this impression.

Sincerely,

Lorena Ann Barnett

The Miss Hi Misses will be on our Campus this weekend. This time, will be forming their opinions of Winthrop. Do again we will want to "throw out the welcome mat" to our visitors. When passing a strange face, give a big smile and a hello, because you, too, may be in navy and white next year.

Sincerely,

Elsewhere

By Packie Sarratt

It is with fear and trembling that your columnist begins the task of trying to inform you on the happenings at other colleges. When you think about it, all college students are after the same thing — learning, growing up, and — well, fun to use the reverse order of importance! As I've said before: Life may be queer, a love may be sure, the clothes may be newer, and the purpose stronger — but life will never be richer nor adventure more exciting than at college. To prove all that, let's look at what's happening here and elsewhere in the college world.

ACROSS THE WAY . . .

at Clemson politics are very much in the limelight at present. In fact, it is said that the Senior Council election caused a near riot. After what amounted to a "stormy controversy" installations were completed and peace reigns again. New council members are W. H. Craven, J. F. Craig, and McNeil Howard. With our own elections just around the corner, Winthrop will do well to let this be a "profit from experience" lesson.

Next Tuesday Clemson will be host to Dr. Billy Graham who will conduct services that morning in the Field House.

Last Tuesday our "brothers" were entertained by the Cincinnati symphony orchestra which we ourselves enjoyed so much several weeks ago.

Military Ball is the big news at Clemson this weekend. Music will be furnished by the Jungs under the direction of Derrick Stalvey. On the schedule for Friday is a banquet and formal dance. The honorary cadet colonel will be chosen then by a group of faculty members and Army officers.

THE SENIOR SHOW . . .
at Converse recently was a huge success. Music from the last five decades was presented—including an imitation of Al Jolson, a flapper and the old favorite, the Barbershop Quartet. All the members of the senior class were included in the cast and we hear they pulled much money. In addition to all the festivities, Converse was also host to high school seniors for High School weekend. Some show—some time—some fun!

The Senior dance at Converse is scheduled for tomorrow night. "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody" is the theme and the music will be by the Newberry Sextet.

SPEAKING OF SHOWS . . .
The Fraternity Stunt night at Carolina last Friday is said to have been right on the ball. Fraternities presented stunts which were judged. Proceeds go to WSSP.

Students at Carolina heard Billy Graham last week in assembly. The large overflow heard the sermon over the loud speaker system while sitting on the lawn. Carolinians were also invited to join in the final program last Sunday in their studies.

March 24 is the big preview day for Carolina football supporters who will see a full dress game between two evenly divided squads of the 1950 Gamecock team. Ed Pasky and Steve Wadlak, two Gamecock favorites, are expected to share action honors.

IN CHAPEL HILL . . .
students of the University of North Carolina are looking forward to two Hazel Scott appearances March 22 and 23. Miss Scott's program will combine classical, semi-popular music, and her inimitable boogie woogie. This ought to be good!

UNC will have a new cancer research laboratory, thanks to the $200,000 grant made to the University by the National Cancer Institute. No details on the type or size of the lab were available, but it is understood that the lab will be part of the new four year medical school at the University.

TENNIS FANS . . .
from all around journeyed Davidson way Wednesday to see champions Jack Kramer and Pancho Gonzales. Touring the U.S. under the sponsorship of Bobby Riggs, the pair are playing exhibition matches. Thus far, Kramer is on top with winning matches.

THE ART FORUM . . .
at the Women's College of UNC last weekend included works submitted by students from 14 states and Hawaii. Exhibitions of paintings, plays, stories, poems, original musical compositions, and modern dance were included in the weekend program. A group from Winthrop attended the forum.

MAY QUEEN . . .
at Newberry is Jane Haddell Medlock, former Winthrop student.

THE CITIZEL . . .
dances this weekend, also, to the strains of Sunnie Dunham. Friday is the big night for Spring hop. Saturday is a big day, too, for Spring holidays begin and the troops move homeward. Need I say more?

Junior Follies Through The Years Shows Circuses, Melodrama, And Music

By ROSE SMITH
"Sound off—Junior Follies!" a familiar call around the Campus these days where any members of the Junior class congregate. Top secrets are the details of the annual production of the Junior class until the curtain rises on the Follies of '50 tomorrow night in the College auditorium at 8:00.

Tracing the evolution of Junior Follies from the first presentation a quarter of a century ago, we find themes ranging from circus to melodrama.

By ROSE SMITH
In the following years the musical comedy came into the limelight with variety as the keynote. The setting of plays has been everywhere from shipboard, as in "Bernarda Alba" in '29, a California hacienda for "Down Mexico Way" in '40, to a metropolitan cafe for "Over the Love of You" in '41. "Ye Gods" in '42 combined modern night life with customs and ideas of the gods. "Take It Off" in '43 presented Southern girls running into military restrictions in the operation of a date bureau.

A panoramic satire on Winthrop life, "Winthrop Blues," was given in '44. The following year the Juniors entertained with "Male Call," a three-act comedy. Follies of '46 was a play entitled "Leave Us Face It."

Three-act musical comedies have been presented the last three years. "Send in Your Eyes" came in 1947. The production of 1948 was "Home Was Never Like This."

Sports and Fun on the Campus Recreation Roundup

SPORTS

We never know about the weather these days. Will the sun be shining? Will the rain be pouring? Both are good questions. We do know that already we are wishing for that "spring weather" so that we can make use of the athletic field, the tennis courts, and the golf course. You will feel better, enjoy life more, and be happier if you balance your schedule so that there's time for both study and recreation. Did too much of either, but enough of both. That's what the doctor ordered!

The Modern Dance club has really been on the go lately. Those members who went to the Art forum at Greensboro, N. C. report a wonderful time. They learned a great deal about technique while they were there. A group danced for the Latin forum last weekend also. There are many plans for the future. Besides the annual recital, Mrs. Sale and the club are planning a dance in connection with an Alpha Psi Omega, dramatics fraternity, program. Keep your eyes open for coming events.

There was quite a mix-up at the gym Monday. One of the camp leadership classes was supposed to learn to chop wood. Miss Kent said that they couldn't chop down people's trees—thus a problem arose. Where, other than from trees, would they get wood? They thought of tearing down a house, but decided they didn't have the strength. The problem was apparently solved when Miss Post said: "You can kill two birds with one stone. I have some big logs in my back yard that need chopping up for firewood." This seemed to be an excellent idea, so a truck was to transport the forerunners to the sight of the target. With ax in hand, the crew waited. No truck arrived. Finally, as many as could climbed into a handy pick-up truck and were whisked away. Do you think this is the end of our story? No—the wood was much too hard. After much labor, the girls gave it up.

Girl scouts from Lancaster and Rock Hill met at the gymnasium Saturday and celebrated the 38th anniversary of Girl Scout work in America. Miss Post and 10 girls from the physical education department directed the scouts in games and folk dances.

The spring sports club began Tuesday. From now until the end of school the Modern Dance club will meet on Mondays and Thursdays; tennis on Monday and Wednesday... swimming on Tuesday and Wednesday... softball, Tuesday and Thursday... golf and recreational sports on Friday. To get that out-door look... plus that pre-summer tan... join a club. Get in the swing!

It seems that the tennis enthusiasts who were lucky enough to see the Bobby Riggs World Championship Tennis tour at Davidson college Wednesday night will be discussing Pancho Gonzales terrific serve forever. They saw Pancho Segura defeat Bobby Riggs and Jack Kramer, who was suffering from a cold, in a double match with Gonzales and Segura. Those attending the matches were Miss Irene Kent, Miss Lois Devereaux, Miss Frances St. Clair, Lou Lewis, Pat Horton, Bertha Benning, Lillian Neal, Harriet Lyons, Jane Rogers, Robbie Mayfield, Caroline Williams, Connie Hildgood, and Nancy Chapman.

Physical Education Majors Find Many Job Opportunities 'Outside These Gates'

By AMELIA PAPPAS

Job! Job! Now that Spring is just around the corner and graduation is not too far off, some girls' thoughts are turning to the prospect of getting a job.

You've On Your Own When June rolls around and many girls graduate, they will come face to face with the cold, cruel world. No longer will checks be coming in from men or dad for spending money. From that day, they will be on their own.

Don't get depressed though, 'cause for you physical education majors there are many job opportunities. As you find the type of job you want, you will find that this world isn't such a cruel one after all.

All Types of Jobs Job opportunities in the field of physical education have greatly increased. Some girls will teach in creches, as well as in elementary and high schools. Many of our graduates will want to go into this type of work.

In case teaching isn't what you want to do, don't worry 'cause there are lots of other jobs waiting. Recreation is becoming more important every day. Girls interested in doing recreational work can find jobs with churches and with the YWCA and community recreation programs.

There are jobs with the public health department. Some girls may want to take further training in physical therapy. Another field which is relatively new is industrial recreation. Industries have become aware of the importance of recreation, and are using activity extensively in their programs of work.

Even Before Graduation Physical education majors, even before graduation, have an opportunity to work as counselors in summer camps.

Need Pocket Money In addition to regular jobs, girls qualified may earn extra money by officiating basketball or other types of games.

Yes, job opportunities in the field of physical education have increased.

What Are You Planning To Do? After writing about different types of jobs, I decided to find out what a few of our PE majors are planning to do. These are the results I received.

Lois Mickle and "Red" Griffin are planning to teach. "Red" wants to teach physical education in a large or medium-sized high school. Lois also wants to teach in high school.

Doris Dufford is planning to go to the Army, and take up physical therapy. Then she plans to go to a sports hospital. At present Betty Jean Conable is planning to teach science and physical education at Montreat high school, and later she wants to do graduate work at the University of North Carolina. Vivian Leslie is considering joining the WACS after graduation. In the Army she wants to do recreational work overseas. However, if she doesn't go into the Army, she plans to teach physical education. These are the plans of a few, what are yours?

Nearby Girl Scouts Are At Winthrop

More than 300 Girl Scouts of Rock Hill and Lancaster met at the Winthrop college gymnasium March 11 to celebrate the 38th anniversary of Girl Scout work in America. Miss Julia Post and girls from the physical education department directed the group in games and folk dances.

The folk dance program consisted of dances from France, Holland, Germany, and Russia. Each physical education major who was helping had charge of a group. She taught them various dances from the countries. All of the groups joined together at the close and did the Virginia reel. The girls who taught and led the dances were in costume.

Those girls who helped were Mary Burley, Mary Elizabeth Carl, Kitty Coward, Jan Eaddy, Ruth Laves, Olivia Martin, Suzi Eiten, Carolyn Taylor, Betty Lou Ward, and Ann Woodcock. Miss Claire Simmons served as piano accompanist.

Mrs. W. W. Fennell, Jr., Juliette Lowe chairman for this area, told of ways the World Friendship fund of green and gold money, will over all the world. A gift from each troop was presented in an attractive box bearing the scout colors. The total amount of the gifts was $57.35.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with the scout colors of green and gold. The birthday cake was iced in green and gold and decorated with lighted candles.

Juniors and sophomores (19)—Bryant, 9; Laves, 4; Eaddy, 3; Moore, guards: Bradberry, Pearce, Scott, Moore, Bell.

Half-time score was freshmen, 26; Juniors and sophomores, 13. The game March 8 resulted in the score 22-16 with the freshmen victorious. Freshman scoring was led by R. Smith with 7 points and senior scoring by Calo with 7 points to her credit.

Freshmen (23)—Moore, 2; Nichols, 6; R. Smith, 7; Norwood, 3; Horton, 4; Mayfield, 2; guards: A. Smith, Ratchford, Hutson, Williams, Wannamaker, Lyons.

Seniors (16)—Jo Willis, 1; Calo, 7; Shuler, 1; Aubrey, 1; Finley, 3; Taylor, 3; guards: Griffin, Coward, Genoble, Jordan, Neal, Lewis.

The half-time score was freshmen, 15; and seniors, 7.

The senior-junior and sophomore game on March 10 ended with a defeat for the junior-sophomore by the score of 41-38. Calo led senior scoring with an impressive 29 points. Laves was also a very high scorer for the junior-sophomore team. She made 30 points.

SOCIALIZIN'

By BETTY BAKER, Society Editor
ALBERTA LACHICOTTE, Assistant

This past weekend many were lucky enough to manage to scatter themselves throughout the State—but alas, and slack—very few people will be seen leaving the Campus today. Why? There seems to be a special attraction on Campus that holds suspense for all—or is it the title that is luring us all to stay, to see, and to enjoy—FOOL'S PARADISE.

We would like to wish the Juniors much luck and success in their production. We'll all be out front waiting to applaud from the beginning to the end as we adjust our mode to Fool's Paradise.

TELL IT TO THE JUDGE

or tell it to the preacher. Last Wednesday that's exactly what Monella McClure and Bob Stutts did. Monella has now gone to Clinton to join Bob who is a Senior at Presbyterian College in Clinton. Congratulations and best wishes.

BILL AND COO

Dad and Marshall, Lew and Tom, Mary and Jeff, and now add to this list is Margie Smith of Wallerboro who recently visited Frances Ann Cox of Orangeburg where she received another ring in her junior year. It seems that this one has quite a bit more of a sparkle to it. By the way the lucky person is Wallace Austell of Orangeburg.

SENTIMENTAL JOURNEY . . .

Seems to sum up Mae Winters' trip from Carolina to see Jean Hysell. Jean happened to be unlucky and have a campus, therefore, they parlor dated. Jean stated that now she knows Seniors never grow old. She once more had the feeling of a freshman.

CINDERELLA . . .

Winthrop had many Cinderella's represented in Clinton at the Military ball at Presbyterian College. Seen at the ball were Sylvia Owsen, Ruth Bandy, Myra Adair, Barrie Jean Winard, Frances Eaker, Anna Owens, Anna Bennett, and Jinx Drinker.

Jinx sponsored at the Military ball for Cadet Captain Tommy Mundy of Abbeville, and Nancy Courtney, former Winthrop student, also sponsored for Cadet Captain Ed Kenney of Aiken.

LOOK FOR THE SILVER LINING . . .

A few who went homeward in search of that silver lining were Pat Horton of Greenwood, Barbara Freeman and Margaret Breckman to Spartanburg, and Elizabeth Anne Bendler in York where she helped her grandmother to celebrate her birthday.

DUEL IN THE SUN . . .

But was it a duel? It seems that Evelyn Jordan managed to be the lucky one to catch the bride's bouquet recently at a wedding in Ridge Springs. Just what does it mean when a bridesmaid catches the bouquet?

HOLIDAY INN . . .

Is it a holiday? Maybe it is and maybe it isn't—but nevertheless it is St. Patrick's day and it's the wearing of the green!

Mess Up --- Clean Up

Canteen Proves To Be 'Crossroads Of The Campus'

By ALBERTA LACHICOTTE

You weave and shove your way through the crowd that fills the smoky room. Finally you reach the counter and get that cup of coffee. Then you start hunting an extra chair that can be jammed into the circle of 12 others that surround the table where your friends are.

Where are you? Why, at the College canteen, of course. What other place is like this?

It's a safe bet that no other table made the size of those in the canteen can hold as much. The custom is for a dozen people to sit around one table and to pile all their possessions and food on it.

The first layer of the stack usually consists of books and kerchiefs. On top of these are ashtrays, cigarettes and matches. Next come coffee cups, Coca-Colas, milk, sandwiches and bowls of soup. The acknowledged mastermind of the group is anybody who finds room for a doughnut on the table top itself.

Discussions on This And That Discussion range anywhere from A to F. Among the participants is found a certain sociology major, who is constantly crying in her office over the ignorance and limited interests of college students. She attempts in vain, to instill a political and social philosophy into her invisible companion plus trying to impress on them the important place of the individual in modern society.

Last semester the photography class met regularly after dinner on Tuesdays and Thursdays and "concentrated" together over their latest blurred negatives and lab blunders of the morning.

Between classes, the place is a second Grand Central station. If ever you want to find anyone on Campus that's hard to catch, just sit and wait, she's bound to wander in soon.

A night really to behold is the canteen on meat-leaf and fish day in the Dining room. Thirteen hundred girls descend en masse. A comparable scene is Tuesdays right before assembly when all stock up on food and candy in preparation for the long all, better known as the big sleep.

At night all is quiet until the 9:30 buzzer rings out. The whole freshman class then manages to get in by the time the buzzer stops. Smart, these freshmen!

Social Place No. 1 Eating isn't the only activity carried on down here. More than a few students can be seen desperately finishing up reports for the following class. Take it from me who doesn't know, just nothing like doing things early!

Ah yes! the canteen provides a place for many events. It's a handy place to read your mail—listen to music, as well as the latest news broadcast! Just one more small item—the canteen has more than just one table in it. The trouble is, just try to leave it to the canteen group.

The Daily Reveille

Meeting the gang to discuss a quiz—a date with the campus queen—or just killing time between classes—the Field House at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge is one of the favorite places for a rendezvous. At the Field House, as in college campus haunts everywhere, a frosty bottle of Coca-Cola is always on hand for the pause that refreshes—Coke belongs.
